

ARMY SONGS

WHOSOEVER WILL!
"Whosoever heareth!" shout, shout
the sound!
Send the blessed tidings all the world around!
Spread the joyful news wherever man is found
"Whosoever will may come!"

Chorus
"Whosoever will!" "Whosoever will!"
Send the blessed tidings over vale and hill.
"Tis the loving Father calls the wanderer home:
"Whosoever will may come!"
Whosoever cometh need not delay;
Now the door is open, enter while you may;
Jesus is the true and only living
Way,
"Whosoever will may come!"

COME, SINNERS, TO JESUS
Tunes.—The Lion of Judah, 190;
Stand like the brave, 187.
Come, sinners, to Jesus, no longer delay:
A free, full Salvation is offered today;
Arise, all ye bond slaves, awake from your dream!
Believe, and the light and the glory
shall stream.

Chorus
For the Lion of Judah shall break every chain.

The world will oppose you, and
Satan will rage;
To hinder your coming they both
will engage;
But Jesus, your Saviour, has conquered for you,
And He will assist you to conquer them, too.

CLEANSING FROM ME
Lord, through the Blood of the Lamb that was slain,
Cleansing for me!
From all the guilt of my sins now I claim,
Cleansing from Thee!
Many the crushing defects I have

SOLDIERS, ARISE!
Tunes.—Storm the forts, 273; Song
Book, 536.
Soldiers of our God, arise!
The day is drawing nearer;
Shake the slumber from your eyes,
The light is growing clearer,
Sit no longer idly by,
While the heedless millions die,
Lift the blood-stained banner high,
And take the field for Jesus.

Chorus
Storm the forts of darkness,
Bring them down, bring them down.
See the brazen hosts of hell,
Art and power employing;
More than human tongue can tell,
Blood-bought souls destroying.
Hark! from ruin's ghastly road,
Victims groan beneath their load,
Forward, O ye sons of God,
And dare or die for Jesus.

COME WITH ME!
Come, oh, come, and go with me,
Where love is beaming,
Come, oh, come with me,
Where light is streaming,
Light and love Divine
In Christ revealing
God Himself to you and me.

Chorus.—Hallelujah! Hallelujah!
None can be too vile
For love so beaming,
None can be too dark
For light so streaming;
Christ can make you whole
Through faith believing,
Full Salvation give to you.

COME IN, COME IN!
Come in, my Lord, come in,
And make my heart Thy home;
Come in, and cleanse my soul from sin,
And dwell with me alone,
Thyself to me be given,
In fulness of Thy love;
Thyself alone will make my heaven,
Though all Thy gifts remove.

Chorus: Come in, my Lord, come in,
My Lord, Thou dost come in—
I feel it in my soul;
I hear Thy words, my Saviour-King,
"Be every whit made whole."
Glory to God on high!
Let heaven and earth agree
My risen Christ to magnify—
For lo! He lives with me.

WE ARE Looking for You

We will search for missing persons in any part of the globe, by land, sea, or air, as far as possible, until they are found, and will return them to their homes, if desired.

Our motto should be: "Find every man, wherever he is, and help him to get home." In case of reproaches, soldiers, and friends, are requested to assist us by looking regularly through the columns, and to notify Central Agents if able to give information concerning any case, always stating name and number of same.

FRANKIE ERNEST RICHARD, No. 10522. Railway engineer, single, age 32, middle height, black hair, brown eyes, mostly Southern appearance; has lived in America and Canada 15 years. Last heard from 20 months ago, address being Alameda Central, Hudson Bay Ry., Hobart, Ont. Used to be called "Duke" and by his brothers "Decko."

BRANDLEY JOHN, No. 10298. Canadian, age 40, height 5 ft. 11 in., weight 150 lbs., light complexion, light hair, dark blue eyes, married, carpenter by trade. Missing 12 years. Last known address, Boston, U.S.A. Information urgently wanted.

NIXON, E. R., No. 10681. English nationality, age about 22, height about 5 ft. 6 in., dark hair and complexion, has served in British army, most recent work in British Columbia, possibly in hotel or camp, or may have been in overseas contingent. Last heard of working in Calgary. Information as to present whereabouts rewarded.

KNIGHT, WALTER MICHAEL, No. 10253. Age 28, bright smile, 5 ft. 11 in., hair almost black, dark eyes, clear complexion, by trade a painter and painter's assistant. Left England about May, 1909, and was then missing. It is thought he settled in Toronto, Ont.

NARIE, ANTHONY, No. 10520. Italian name, next Antonio. Age 25, height 5 ft. 6 in., weight 140 lbs., dark complexion, black hair, grey eyes, single, laborer. Missing 4 years. Last known address, Toronto or Quebec.

ALURICUT, CORREDORE, No. 10558. Age 50, a Swiss from Stadel, carpenter by trade, was in San Francisco to 1911. May be in Canada. Wanted re interview.

ATKINSON, CHARLES HAROLD, No. 10592. Canadian, age 24, height 5 ft. 6 in., weight 150 lbs., dark complexion, dark brown hair, blue eyes, married, druggist on G. T. Ry. Missing 12 months. Last known address, Market Street, Brantford, Ont., near G. T. Ry. Station. Last known employer, C. Foreman, G. T. Ry., Brantford, Ont.

CRUSMAN, MRS. MARY, nee MISS FLYNN, No. 10158. Born near Dublin, Ireland; left there about 8 or 9 months ago; was a member of the A. & L. and later from Hebecca, Ont. Used to go to the Salvation Army in New York, U.S.A. Information urgently wanted.

CROZIER, MRS. MAUDE, alias MRS. WILSON, No. 10610. English, age 30, height 4 ft. 9 in., 110 lbs., fair complexion, brown hair, blue eyes; missing since July 15th, 1914. Supposed to be living with a Mrs. Murdoch, in Keene, Ont. Last known employer, Robert Woods, Keene, Ont. Letters are being addressed to South River, Ferry Road, Box 32.

NILNE, MARGARET, No. 10620. Scotch, age 60, height 5 ft. 2 in., weight 110 lbs., dark complexion, brown hair, hazel eyes, single; housekeeper, sometimes did sewing. Missing 4 1/2 years. Last known address, Teraulay St., near Queen, west side Toronto, Ont. Used to attend Army meetings.

KING, FRANCIS JOSEPH, No. 10570. 15 years of age, height 5 ft. 7 in., brown hair, brown eyes and a fair complexion, collar by occupation, and of English nationality. Last address, 29 months ago, was Manor Cn., 1st Street West, Calgary, Alta. Relatives anxious.

LAT, ALFRED WILLIAM, No. 10624. English nationality, age 23, height 5 ft. 11 in., single, fair hair, brown hair. Missing 18 months. Last known address, E.M. R. Balderson, Ont. Last employer in Balderson, but name not known. Relatives enquire.

MORGAN, ELBERT, No. 10639. Age 21, single, height 5 ft. 5 in., Auburn hair. Last heard of one year ago; was then on the way to Los Angeles, California. Relatives anxious for news.

PEDDERSEN, SIGVART (MARINUS), No. 10611. Norwegian, 20 years of age, medium height, fair. Last heard of May 6th, 1914, and his address then was care of Henkley Bros. Camp 5, Bryan Creek, North Saskatchewan, Canada. Was a cook. Used to stay in or near Montreal, Que.

KENNING, WILLIAM, No. 10563. Age 21, height 5 ft. 6 in., brown hair, blue-grey eyes, fair complexion, Scotch nationality, a clerk. Was last known to be employed by Mr. William Smith, Rutherglen, Ont.

SPROM, OBEAR, No. 10218. Norwegian. Last known address, care of Martin & McDredge, via Port Ont. Worked about one year for this company, and then in Sept. 1912, he went to Norway. Letters have not been answered or returned. Relatives anxious.

NEILSON, HENRY, No. 10471. Norwegian, age 31, medium height, pale complexion. In Old Canada was Isaac Neilson. Last address in March, 1914, was 618 Glen St., San Francisco, Calif. Was a member of the Printers' Union. Printer by trade. Relatives anxious.

COMM. RICHARDS

Grand Falls—August 1.
St. John's—August 1.
Burlington—August 1.
Garnish—August 1.
Fortune—August 1.
Grand Forks—August 1.
St. John's—August 1.
Catalina—August 1.
Ellistown—August 1.
Bonaville—August 1.
Clareville—August 1.
Gamblo—August 1.
New Glasgow—August 1.
(Brigades Army and accompaniment)

BRIG. RAWLING—August 1.
5: Napane, Aug. 1.
ford, Aug. 7-8.

BRIG. CAMERON—August 1.
Aug. 6-9; Tim. Aug. 10-11.
Aug. 11; Warr. Aug. 12-13.
Stellarton, Aug. 14-15.
gow, Aug. 16-17.

BRIG. and MRS. TAYLOR—August 1.
John 3, Aug. 2-22.

MAJOR COOMES—August 1.
7-8; Newcastle, Aug. 9; Darnley, Aug. 10; St. John's, Aug. 11-12; St. Stephen, Aug. 13-14.

MAJOR WALTON—August 1.
Aug. 5; Montreal, Aug. 6-7; Woodstock, Aug. 8-9; Dresden, Aug. 10-11; Lacombeburg, Aug. 12-13; Aug. 23-29.

AFTER MANY DAYS
"Cast thy bread upon the water, for thou shalt find it after many days."—Eccles. 1:1.
A young nobleman, after riding on a hot day, arrived at a hotel totally exhausted. His throat increased, he was in a village and sought for a house.

At last he stopped and inquired of an old woman, "Is it that I can't get a glass of liquor anywhere in this village?" "Drying husky man yet replied the old woman, something over one hundred years ago a man named Job came to these parts."

It would be interesting to the thoughts of the soldier, pursued his thirsty way, more than one hundred years ago, spoken for God had kept him of drunkenness out of the

HEALTH MAKING

An hour lost in the morning put back all the business of the day—one hour gained by the evening will add nearly a week's work to the year.

Closed windows are a source of danger to consumption.

Strong drink makes you weak.

Your lungs can't be kept healthy if they can be aired.

Breathe freely and the more you expand your chest, the more you will contract cold.

Sunshine flooding the room may fade carpets, but it brings the bloom of health upon you.

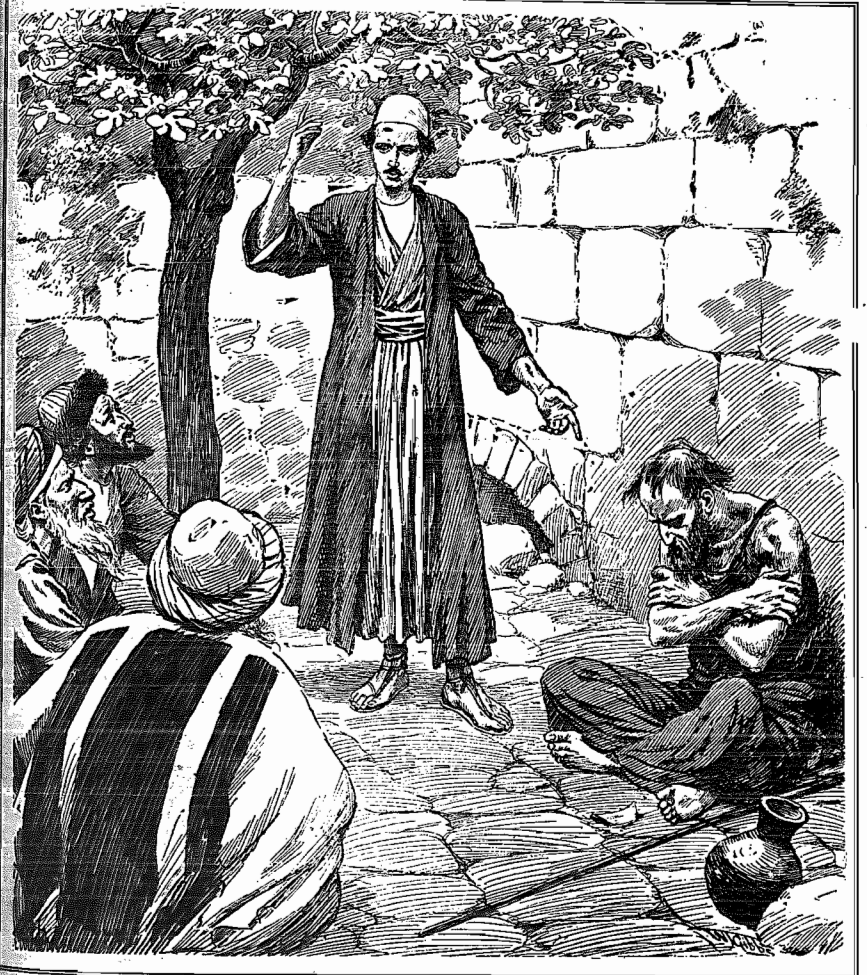

Take your choice.

In spite of the length of the day, the affe's neck, there are joints in it, as in the

THE WAR CRY

OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE SALVATION ARMY IN CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.
International Headquarters: 205 Queen Victoria St., London, E.C. Canada East Headquarters: James & Albert Sts., Toronto, Ont.

Year: No. 46. W. Bramwell Booth, General. TORONTO, AUGUST 27, 1915. W. J. Richards, Commissioner. Price Two Cents

Job and His Comforters--Test of a Good Man's Faith
"AND JOB ANSWERED AND SAID: 'THOUGH HE SLAY ME, YET WILL I TRUST IN HIM.'... THE LORD BLESSED THE LATTER END OF JOB MORE THAN HIS BEGINNING. (See Page Two.)

ADVANCE, ST. CATHARINES!

Corner-stone of New Citadel Laid by J. B. McIntyre, Esq., Who Gave Stirring and Inspiring Address.

The corner-stone of The Army's new Citadel at St. Catharines was laid on Friday evening, July 30th, by J. B. McIntyre, Esq., in the presence of many Army friends. Brigadier Miller presided over the gathering.

He referred briefly to the beauty of the corner-stone (says the St. Catharines "Standard"), supplied by Rymer Bros., mason contractors, and to the trowel, donated by the contractor, Mr. Charles Darker. The following inscription was engraved on the trowel: "Presented to Mr. McIntyre in commemoration of the laying of the corner-stone of The Salvation Army Citadel, St. Catharines, July 30, 1915."

Brigadier Miller then presented the trowel to Mr. McIntyre, who, after laying the corner-stone, addressed the assembly as follows:—"On every hand we have seen unmistakable evidences of the growth of our city. This is an important and creative time for the Garden City. We have met to-day by the corner-stone of a new Citadel for The Salvation Army. May its foundations be laid deep and solid in compassion and justice for the common good of all. May those for whom this building is being erected realize the privileges that are theirs and devote heart and soul to the purest effort of patriotism, with a sympathetic touch and a faithful work, the cause of humanity will be advanced in our city and country."

"I am very glad to have the opportunity of being present and listening to the exercises as far as they have gone. Speaking as chairman of the Citizens' Committee, I desire to offer expressions of gratitude to all those who have made it possible, by their liberal contributions, to erect this Citadel, thereby increasing The Army's facilities for greater work. I congratulate you upon the spirit with which your hearts are filled to-day. Realizing the importance of this event, and with a heart thrilling with new pride, with a new sense of the importance of the work you are engaged in, let us hope that this building will ever be consecrated to the high ideals of human brotherhood."

"We are all brethren of the world—we are all tied together by a community of interests. What benefits one is pretty sure, as the influence expands, to reach everybody else and in some way to come back to mankind with its blessing. We are beginning to realize more and more the importance of The Army's work and we cannot but advise the men and women who consecrate their life work to benefit the human family that they are, making their influence felt, making the world brighter, happier, and purer than it would have been without such service. A powerful agency for good and far-reaching in its influence, an important factor in solving the social problems of a free people; they are devoting their highest abilities to the betterment and uplifting of their fellow-men. There is no service beside that we all owe to the Great Giver of all good that is more enabling than that bestowed in benefiting our fellow-men, and that man serves God best who serves his neighbour. It is in ourselves that the present rests, and the future has its hopes."

Mr. E. Poole and Mr. T. Webb then spoke a few words of praise for The Army, congratulating them on their beautiful edifice, and wishing them success in their work.

Major Moore presented the financial statement, and congratulated the Citizens' Committee on their noble efforts, and the people as a whole on their generous response. After the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," Captain Speller, of Niagara Falls, led in prayer, followed by the singing of the National Anthem, which brought the service to a close.

OPEN-AIR FOR SEAMEN

Special Feature of Campaign Conducted by Brigadier Taylor in Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Brigadier and Mrs. Taylor, Major Coombs, and Ensign Clark, of the Evangelist Home, St. John, have just had a very successful campaign in Prince Edward Island, which is rightly termed "The Garden of the Gulf."

The Major visited Summerside, Alberton, and Elmsdale, where the attendance at meetings and interest manifested shows things to be decidedly on the up-grade, with prospects brightening in each place for future victories.

The campaigns in Charlottetown included the regular week-end services, and a special meeting in the Zion Church Hall, where Ensign Clark gave an address on the "Women's Social Work." The Pastor, Rev. Mr. Taylor, kindly presided; expressing his sympathy and interest in the work in a most warm-hearted manner, and his feelings were evidently shared by the congregation.

Another interesting feature of the campaign was a special open-air meeting which is now held every Sunday at 4 p.m. for seamen, under the Marine Wharf. Several hundred citizens, as well as sailors, gathered, and many were undoubtedly impressed for good.

This weekly service is the outcome of the efforts of Brother Brace, whose two daughters, Ensign Bertha and Sister Daisy, were drowned at Sarnia some years ago. For several years the "War Cry" has been distributed "War Cry" and other papers, and have done personal work among the seamen on the boats and around the wharves every Sunday morning, and the open-air service is the outcome of this work. The meeting is held by The Army, but the ministers of the different churches take their turn in giving the address.

Mrs. Taylor gave a ten-minute address to the children at the Sunday morning holiness meeting. Over thirty were present (members of the Young Worshipers League) who have never missed a Sunday morning meeting for six months. The Brigadier dedicated Bramwell Wesley, the son of Ensign and Mrs. White, to God and The Army. Captain Brett, just promoted to this rank, assisted in the week-end services, which closed with three souls at the Mercy Seat.

The Charlottetown Corps' excursion and picnic at Elliott's Mills will not soon be forgotten. In spite of rain, over two hundred came, also some comrades from Alberton and Summerside, and it was refreshing also to meet a number of men and women who were converted in The Army over twenty-five years ago, and though away from Army meetings, still remain Soldiers, and keep in touch with The Army by subscribing for its publications. Some of these comrades drove for miles through the rain to be present.

Mr. Wood kindly placed his sawmill, which was close by the railway siding at The Army's disposal for the day. It was a splendid object lesson on the art of adjustment. Old and young enjoyed the novelty of the situation, and many remarked that it was the best picnic they had ever attended. A rousing meeting was conducted in the sawmill by the Brigadier, and it was an inspiration to hear his encouraging words.

"So if the sky is dark, and if the day is dreary,

Troublesome—But Not Necessarily Fatal

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation, for when he is tried he shall receive the crown of life."

The sun is shining, and this I know. And so to keep my heart from growing weary I carry my cross with me everywhere I go.

The same night, after the spoke on the Women's Social Work, Mrs. Taylor spoke warmly, commending the work, and Mrs. Taylor spoke warmly, commending the work, and Mrs. Taylor spoke warmly, commending the work.

Scout Review
CHIEF SECRETARY
TORONTO TROOP
CLARKSON

A hundred and sixty-five of the Toronto Life-Saving Scouts were reviewed by the Chief Secretary, Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave, at the Scout's Camp on the C.N. Railway, Monday, August 2nd.

The Scouts, a number of whom had spent the week-end at the various troops, were in fine trim, and smart in their uniforms of red and blue.

The Chief Secretary had a word with each of the Scout Leaders, and then with Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave and the Territorial Organizers, proceeded to go the round of the various troops.

The Colonel then addressed the Scouts on the word "Alert." Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave also spoke, urging the boys to stand true.

The order, "Hats on!" was then given, and three rousing cheers for the Chief Secretary were given, for which the Scouts responded in a very faithful manner.

Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave and Smeaton took part in Scout Camp meetings with the Scout Captain Spooner and his associates. On the Sunday morning morning speaking on "Service."

Altogether it may be said that the Scouts' visit to Clarkson was a great success, and much credit due to Captain and Mrs. Kyle and others for the interest they took in the boys, and the work they performed to make them as pleasant as possible.

FAREWELL VISIT

Meetings at Port Arthur for the week-end, July 24th-26th, were conducted by Brigadier McIntyre, assisted by Ensign Bennett and William Macdonald. The Corps Officers were the Brigadier's last Sunday morning as Divisional Commander of the North-West Province, and were blessed times all day.

The Officers, Adjutant Macdonald, Captains McIntyre and Macdonald, said a few words expressive of sorrow at the departure of the Brigadier for his higher position. The comrades of Port Arthur and the loss very much as they always had a great blessing through the work of the Brigadier. We wish them all well in their new position, and their efforts to win the Master in British Columbia.

Will the Band that has a new 2 Band Books for sale. A person who has a new 2 Band Books for sale. A person who has a new 2 Band Books for sale. A person who has a new 2 Band Books for sale.

INTERNATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

COMM. WHATMORE IN JAPAN

GREAT ENTHUSIASM MARKS WELCOME MEETINGS

250 New Soldiers Enrolled at Tokyo—Total Increase for Japan 949 Soldiers and Recruits.

A series of special meetings at different centres, immense crowds, hundreds of souls, and intense enthusiasm marked the visit of Commissioner Whatmore, our General's representative to Japan.

On June 16th the Commissioner arrived at Shimomouki, and was met there by Commissioner Mapp. On the way to Tokyo the Commissioner conducted a number of special public Salvation meetings at Kobe, Osaka, Kyoto, and Nagoya. The largest hall available at each place was secured, packed out, and one hundred souls was the aggregate at for Salvation and Holiness at the four places. An extra meeting was arranged at the porcelain factory at Nagoya, where three hundred and fifty of the workmen were gathered together at the direction of the proprietor.

At Osaka two Officers' meetings were conducted by the Commissioner. At many places along the line to Tokyo a company of Salvationists were at the station to see and greet the Commissioner as he passed through. He was much cheered and impressed by their happiness and Salvationism.

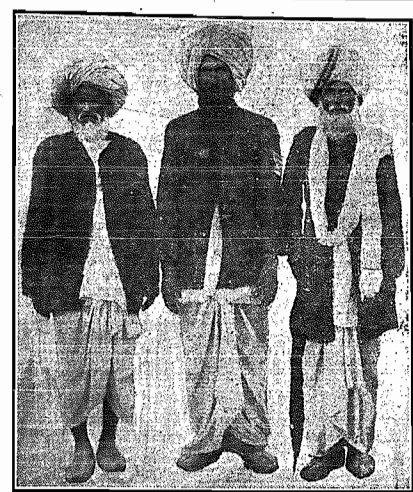

On Tuesday evening, June 22nd, the Commissioner, also Commissioner Mapp, and the writer, who had been with him since his arrival at Kobe, arrived in Tokyo, and had a very hearty and enthusiastic welcome at the station. Many newspaper representatives and photographers were also awaiting the arrival of our international visitor.

The Tokyo Public Reception took place at the Y.M.C.A. on the 23rd. It was indeed a very splendid gathering, and a most interesting meeting throughout. The people were most interested in the Commissioner, and gave him a rousing welcome. In connection with the welcome of the Commissioner we arranged to have a united swearing-in of Soldiers and Recruits. Two hundred and thirty from the various Corps in Tokyo were present, and it was a grand and inspiring sight to see these new Soldiers and Recruits march in in companies, headed by the Flag, the Officers and leading Locals of each Corps, and after announcing the number to be sworn in, in the places in the seats reserved for them at the front.

Commissioner Mapp received the new Soldiers and Recruits, and shared them in the words of Paul to Timothy: "To stir up and put to good use for God and The Army the many gifts and blessings of the Kingdom of Christ had brought to them."

The two hundred and thirty new Salvationists represented only a small portion of the grand total for the Territory, which is as follows: Total for Tokyo, 391; total for other parts of Japan, 551; making a grand total of 942 for the Territory.

250 new Recruits and 421 new Soldiers added to our Roll—a further outcome of the One-Soul Campaign. Praise God! The declaration of this magnificent increase in our forces in Japan was, of course, the signal for a great outburst of Hallelujahs!

Stalwart Sons of India and Zealous Salvationists
Local Officers of the Punjab Territory

It was truly a very happy meeting. Salvationists felt proud to have in their midst such a worthy representative of our dear General, and I am sure the Commissioner felt and realized the sincerity and fervour of their enthusiasm from first to last. It was all so spontaneous and hearty. The Commissioner's appropriate reference to our late General touched to our present General touched a tender spot in the hearts of our people, and paved the way for some practical Salvation truths he so faithfully directed, and an appeal, which resulted in twenty-eight for Salvation and thirty-six for Holiness—making a total of sixty-four at the Cross—Gunpei Yamamoto, Chief Secretary.

FIGHTING FAMINE AND FEVER

STRIKING NEWS CONCERNING SOME UNIQUE PHASES OF ARMY USEFULNESS.

Writing on some phases of Army Work in India, Commissioner Booth-Tucker says:—"During the past year a special impetus has been given to the Silk and Handloom Weaving Industries, whilst the introduction of the eucalyptus as a malaria fighter and timber tree, the coming of the mulberry tree for silk and fuel, and of cassava as a famine fighter, have formed notable features of our work. India has been strongly pushed as a remedy for plague and is widely accepted by the medical profession."

Besides these special activities, our general Missionary Work has been uninterruptedly pushed forward, and our membership has nearly doubled since the last census. "Mrs. Commissioner Booth-Tucker and I recently visited the Criminal Settlement at Moradabad, Najibabad and Kashipur. Who would have

AMONG THE ZULUS

AT DAVID REES SETTLEMENT

Strange Heathen Practices—Souls Won from the Dense Darkness.

Seven months it is since we arrived to take charge of the work at this Native centre (writes Captain Anderson in the South African "Cry"). And it is gladdening to record a little of what we have seen and heard during that brief time.

To begin with, we love our work among the Zulus. To visit the natives in their kraals, to sit down and talk to them in their natural way of life soon gives one an insight of the land and its people. Some we find sick and they are glad to welcome us. The people are quite free and open-hearted with us, and tell some pitiful stories, whereby one can see how dense is the darkness in which they live, and that they are ignorant of God and the Salvation Jesus died to bring to all mankind.

We were told by a woman recently of the cruelty that is not infrequently practiced on the old women at the heathen kraals when they become infirm and unable to work. They are teased by the children, given very little food, and made to eat all kinds of rubbish, and otherwise treated most cruelly.

To show the darkness in which many are living, we might say that only the other day an old woman came to us in good faith and asked for a pass, as she was getting old and might soon die, and she wanted when she came to Heaven's gate to have the pass to gain admittance.

Sometimes when visiting we see a white flag hoisted. On inquiring one day what it meant, we were told by a young man that one of their young girls was betrothed, and the flag was raised so that others would know and share in the joy of it. This was the way his engagement was announced.

Late one night we were requested to go to a certain kraal where a young man was sick of fever. The whole family was present, and nearly all heathen. We conducted a meeting, and sought to point the dying one to the Saviour. Shortly after he passed away. The following day the burial took place just outside his hut under some stones. A few days after we had the joy of leading his mother to Christ, and since then one of his sisters has been dedicated to God under The Army Flag. We cannot but express our feelings in the words "Hallelujah!" for the victories already won.

ninety to one hundred and thirty miles in different directions. The latest arrivals at the Rondonbosch Camp are a number of men of the heavy artillery, who came to the Rest on Sunday afternoon looking somewhat worn, dusty, and tired, nevertheless in excellent spirits. Staff-Captain Quartermaster as usual had her best wares displayed, with plenty of boiling water, and a smile for everybody.

"Well," they said, "This is a luxury to begin with, What a treat. We shall really eat you out of house and home."

The Hall was requisitioned later on by the military officers for the men to sleep in, as there were insufficient tents. Thus The Army always comes with its timely help to those in need, and the men are not slow in expressing their appreciation.

SOUTH AFRICAN TROOPS

ENJOY HOSPITALITY OF THE ARMY ON RETURN FROM THE FRONT.

Colonel Rauch recently conducted a meeting at Green Point Camp, South Africa, with the Bechuana Mounted Rifles, on their return from the front.

These particular men had gone into German South-West Africa by way of the Kalahari Desert, but returned by boat to Cape Town. With regard to their journey to "Home, Sweet Home," Kimberley would be the furthestmost point by rail—then by cart, bike, or horse-back from

WAR CRY

Printed for The Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda, and Alaska, by the Salvation Army Printing House, 18 Albert St., Toronto

ONE YEAR OF WAR

A little over a year ago commenced the stupendous struggle which is drenching Europe with blood, converting some of its fairest areas into desert wastes, and making heaps of smoldering ruins of many of its prosperous towns. It may well be called the bloodiest year in the history of the world. Nothing has ever surpassed this war for numbers killed and wounded in so short a period. According to statistics published in the daily papers over two and a half million lives have been cut short, and some five million men have been wounded, to certain proportion of the latter maimed for life. To make a comparison it is as if nearly the whole population of Canada had been killed or injured.

But in spite of the staggering cost of the conflict, in both men and money, both sides seem more grimly determined than ever to carry it on to the bitter end, and there is no sign as yet upon the horizon of any let-up to the terrible harvest of death. On the anniversary of the war British, French, and Russian statesmen issued statements which very clearly show that all efforts to bring about peace are at present useless. Said Sir Edward Carson: "The war will last until the cause of the Allies has been brought to a successful issue, and Europe and the world have been relieved from the ideals involved in the aggression of Prussian domination. The word peace does not enter into our vocabulary at the present time."

It seems certain, therefore, that we must endure another year, and perhaps longer, of this world-shaking conflict. In view of these things, therefore, it is well for us to consider afresh the words of Jesus: "When ye shall hear of wars and commotions, be not terrified; for these things must first come to pass."

No matter what happens we must hold on to our faith in God; we must be ready for every good work; we must seek to mitigate as much as possible the sufferings of the wounded; we must bind up the broken hearts, and, above all, we must go on with our God-appointed task of pointing the world to the Lamb of God. Though thrones and crowns may perish, though kingdoms rise and wane, the Soldiers of Jesus must not fail to hold up the Cross before the eyes of mankind. Shortly we may witness the crash of mighty Empires, but even as they fall let us remember we are working with God to bring about His universal rule of love, the mightiest Empire of all. And we are assured in the Bible that the day of victory is coming by-and-by, when the nations shall beat their weapons into ploughshares and forget all about war; when righteousness shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea; when there will be equal justice for all, true liberty, and international brotherhood. God hasten that glad day!

COMMISSIONER RICHARDS

STIRS BIG CROWDS AT GLACE BAY—THIRTY-SEVEN SEEKERS—ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME AT NORTH SYDNEY

North Sydney, Aug. 2.

THE Commissioner's visit to Glace Bay was a splendid success. The meeting was alive with interest, and the big crowds were delighted and stirred. The Saturday night Soldier's meeting was a powerful time, and concluded with a beautiful reconciliation of two comrades.

The Sunday morning Holiness meeting was a never-to-be-forgotten time. The audience was bathed in tears, so deeply did the Commissioner's message stir their hearts. There were thirty-three seekers.

A large crowd filled the building in the afternoon for the public welcome meeting. Mayor Cameron presided.

At night, nearly a thousand people listened in rapt attention to the Commissioner's stirring appeal. Altogether, there were thirty-seven seekers for the day.

The welcome meeting at North Sydney was enthusiastic and cordial. A large congregation gathered in spite of torrents of rain, and the Commissioner captivated all hearts. Mayor Kelly presided—Major Barr.

WESTERN COMMISSIONER

WARMLY WELCOMED TO REGINA CITY—DEPUTY MAYOR ROUNDTOWN PRESIDES, SUPPORTED BY MANY PROMINENT CITIZENS—TWELVE SEEKERS

REGINA was greatly favoured in having a visit from the Western Commissioner. The Commander so early in the Commissioner's command of the West; in fact, Regina was the first point visited outside of Winnipeg. At the depot by the city's splendid band of Soldiers and friends sincerely appreciated the honour which the Commissioner conferred upon them.

The Commissioner, who was accompanied by Mrs. Sowton and Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. Turner, arrived at the Saskatchewan Capital City on Sunday morning at 10 a.m., and were met at the depot by the Citadel Band and a great crowd of Soldiers and friends. Everyone then adjourned to a favourite spot, where the open-air was crowded, and a large number gathered round to listen to the service.

The month of July is not the best month in the year to get together crowds for indoor meetings; but Adjutant Jaynes and his workers had put forth their best efforts and were rewarded on seeing a nice number assemble for the first meeting to be conducted by the Commissioner.

Staff-Captain Peacock gave out the opening song, "Love Divine," which was sung heartily and with spirit, after which Lieut. Colonel Turner invoked Divine blessing upon the meeting of the day. A few words of welcome to the Commissioner and the visiting Officers on the part of the Staff-Captain, and the Commissioner rose to his feet, and, after replying briefly, but very appreciatively to the warm welcome which had been extended to him, we were then treated to a new chorus, "With an everlasting love He loved us." This was sung as a duet by the Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton, and was taken up readily by the audience.

Mrs. Sowton soon won the hearts of the Regina people by her winning manners, and pleaded with all present to give themselves up to a whole-hearted service for God. "It is the love-filled service which wins," she pointed out. Mrs. Sowton, and told a very pleasing story of an old coloured lady who had attended a church in Chicago for many years in which there also worshipped an infidel, who, although he stated he did not believe in God, attended the church, regularly to listen to the minister.

The latter asked the infidel what sermon of his had impressed him most. The minister eventually had been won for the Master, and his reply: "It was not your sermons, but the question, 'Do you love me Jesus?'" put to him so kindly, by Adjutant and Mrs. Jaynes, and his lady, whom he had helped on the slippery steps one cold day as she departed from the church. Mrs. Sowton pointed out firmly, yet tenderly, that that was the life that would impress people, and urged upon all the importance of a complete surrender.

The Commissioner read for his lesson Zechariah 14, and the 20th and 21st verses, commencing with: "In that day," etc., and in his usual forceful and convincing manner, brought the attention of all present to these words: "One for the home and one for the office, or the factory, or the work bench. 'Our private and public life must correspond,'" declared the Commissioner.

In speaking of the private life the Commissioner laid particular emphasis upon the necessity of each caring for the spiritual interests of those around us in the home and at the place of employment. His picture of an ideal Christian home, and his beautiful indeed, and many were moved to question themselves whether they were really in the right attitude and position to be of service in God's vineyard. Many hearts were touched and helped in that service.

Sunday afternoon was the big public welcome, and Regina did very well in this respect; in fact, some of the old Soldiers stated that seldom if ever they had seen a more representative platform being assembled for a similar service under Army auspices in Regina. Deputy Mayor Roundtown, well-known and highly respected citizen of the city, occupied the chair, and was very sincere in his greetings to the Commissioner and his party. On behalf of the city and its people, he welcomed them from the bottom of his heart.

In his address of welcome, Mr. Roundtown clearly demonstrated that he is no stranger to The Army and its work, and his sympathies do not consist of mere words. It will be of interest to state that Mr. Roundtown appeared in his military uniform (Concluded on Page 11.)

PERSONALIA

INTERNATIONAL

The General recently conducted three soul-inspiring sessions at the Westminster Central Hall in connection with the Day of Prayer.

The following week-end was spent at Wallasey, where the General and ex-Soldier Comrades, a Holiness meeting, and the public gatherings.

On Bank Holiday The General held three meetings on an historic battlefield ground in the East of London—at Stratford.

Mrs. Booth and Colonel Duff had safely reached London from South Africa. Mrs. Booth led a series of Salvation gatherings at Gainsborough at a recent Sunday, and hopes to be able to conduct a Young People's Council at Clayton on October 7th.

The Chief of the Staff, who supported the General at the Westminster Central Hall, is now in Birmingham, Glasgow, and London in the autumn.

The Chief thanks the many comrades who have taken place in his birthday.

Commissioner Mrs. Booth-McBerg conducted the opening ceremony of a new Salvation Army Hall at Aalborg, Denmark, and thirty men and women sought Salvation.

The Rural Dean of Southampton (the Rev. Neville Lovatt) has joined the Treasury grounds at the disposal of Commissioner John Cox for a meeting in the interior of Hattenberg House and the St. Post in that town.

Commissioner Riddell will represent the Danish Congress, which commences on August 13th.

Colonel Pearce, representative of the General at a special meeting of the Belgian Relief Committee held at the Mansion House on a recent Friday afternoon.

The improvement in Mrs. Colson Stitt's condition has been subject to a relapse, but we hope this will be followed by early convalescence. Brigadier Christo Chasra (Nile) has been appointed General Secretary for the General Territory in India.

TERRITORIAL

CANADA EAST

The Commissioner is now in the midst of his Newfoundland campaign, and will not return to Toronto till the early part of September. Pray that God may make our Leader's visit of great blessing to our comrades.

The Chief Secretary reviewed the Life-Saving Scouts at Clarkson's Civic Holiday, Aug. 2nd, and was very pleased with the smart appearance of the lads.

Lieut. Colonel Smeaton and His Fresh-Air Camp last Sunday, a number of Scouts being camped there for the week-end.

Brigadier Miller and Major Moore visited St. Catharines on Friday July 29th, to take part in the laying ceremony, which marked the commencement of work at the new Citadel.

Brigadier Morris will visit the Military Camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake on Aug. 29th.

Mrs. Major Moore will visit the Toronto League of Rescue workers at a picnic at Centre Island on Aug. 16th.

over than eight of the League members, have sent a husband to the front.

and Mrs. Kendall are expected to Montreal 1, and Adjutant Mrs. Burton to Hamilton 1. Mrs. Sharp with the many friends who wrote sympathy and love to them in the sickness and death of their daughter, Flossie.

Satya Mapp has been appointed Territorial Organizer of the Young Scouts—Girls' Section, and will take up her new duties in a few days.

Estella Glover wishes to all comrades who have written sympathy to her in connection with the passing away of her husband.

recent issue we stated that a certain Johnstone had been of the Foreign Service. It has been heard, Captain Donald and November 7th.

The Chief of the Staff, who supported the General at the Westminster Central Hall, is now in Birmingham, Glasgow, and London in the autumn.

The Chief thanks the many comrades who have taken place in his birthday.

Commissioner Mrs. Booth-McBerg conducted the opening ceremony of a new Salvation Army Hall at Aalborg, Denmark, and thirty men and women sought Salvation.

The Rural Dean of Southampton (the Rev. Neville Lovatt) has joined the Treasury grounds at the disposal of Commissioner John Cox for a meeting in the interior of Hattenberg House and the St. Post in that town.

Commissioner Riddell will represent the Danish Congress, which commences on August 13th.

Colonel Pearce, representative of the General at a special meeting of the Belgian Relief Committee held at the Mansion House on a recent Friday afternoon.

The improvement in Mrs. Colson Stitt's condition has been subject to a relapse, but we hope this will be followed by early convalescence. Brigadier Christo Chasra (Nile) has been appointed General Secretary for the General Territory in India.

TERRITORIAL

CANADA EAST

The Commissioner is now in the midst of his Newfoundland campaign, and will not return to Toronto till the early part of September. Pray that God may make our Leader's visit of great blessing to our comrades.

The Chief Secretary reviewed the Life-Saving Scouts at Clarkson's Civic Holiday, Aug. 2nd, and was very pleased with the smart appearance of the lads.

Lieut. Colonel Smeaton and His Fresh-Air Camp last Sunday, a number of Scouts being camped there for the week-end.

Brigadier Miller and Major Moore visited St. Catharines on Friday July 29th, to take part in the laying ceremony, which marked the commencement of work at the new Citadel.

Brigadier Morris will visit the Military Camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake on Aug. 29th.

Mrs. Major Moore will visit the Toronto League of Rescue workers at a picnic at Centre Island on Aug. 16th.

NOTES AND REFLECTIONS

By The General

THESE are days of trembling. Fear and anguish, arm in arm with Death, are abroad amongst the Nations. News of grief and lamentation comes to me out of Belgium, out of Germany, out of Russia, out of Serbia, out of France, and I have no doubt they are also heard in Austria and other countries. Everywhere the people more and more eat their bread with carefulness and drink their water with trembling. Violence is risen into a rod of wickedness. One abominable thing begets another, until good men the world over are stricken dumb with amazement and shame for the vast armies which stand in array. Death, the great Devourer, gets all too great a proportion of recruits. It really seems as if the solemn words of the prophet were spoken for our own day—"A sword—a sword! It is sharpened and also furnished—it is sharpened that it may make slaughter—yea, it is furnished to give it into the hand of the slayer."

But not even all this is to me a more dreadful outcome of the war than the abandonment by multitudes of the people, of all religion—all faith. There is among them either a despair of any good in it—or there is an open contempt for it—a cold stony neglect which is the most difficult—because it is the most practical, form of unbelief. They talk and act and feel as if God were entirely negligible; as if everything depended upon guns, and men, and money; and as if it does not matter in the least to either side, or to any nation, or to the individuals which compose it, whether or not life approves or disapproves their proceedings, or whether or not there is a God at all! This is an appalling fact—appalling for many reasons, but chiefly because no nation can really endure without Him. To cast Him off, therefore, to discard His approval and help—to abandon His Law and Gospel—is to commit suicide. Is not this what the prophet meant when, in rebuking His Ancient People for turning away from Him, he said, "O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself?"

It is on my heart to make an appeal to Salvationists everywhere that they should join in intercession that our God, the Living God, in some way—will intervene and stop all this—that He will come forth from His hiding-place and bring us all quickly to the condition of mind and heart to which He sees we should come if the appalling business of destruction and hate be allowed to drag on its own way.

I believe that in our ranks are thousands of men and women who walk with God, who know Him, and know how they may come before Him as Abraham stood before the Lord in the old time and pleaded with Him for the cities of the plain. I have in the past had many proofs of the power of the mighty works of God wrought in answer to their cries. I know that many of them are often hidden in their work and influence. Some are hardly recognized by their Leaders as being active Salvationists at all, while others are so conscious of their own weakness and unworthiness that they would probably be astonished if they were told that I counted on help of any kind from them. And yet I know they have power with God, and whatever their influence may be with man they can come into His Presence and move His mighty Hand.

Now in these Comrades especially, and also to all within our borders of whatever nationality who believe in the love and pity of the Great Maker and Redeemer of the World, I make this personal appeal—that they will plead with Him that in His mercy He will bring us soon, by His own way, to the end of this awful war. Let us seek Him in humility with confidence and yet with courage and faith. During it needed as well as devotion when we would inquire concerning those things of the King of kings. Let us, therefore, then, come boldly to the Throne of Grace that we may obtain help in this time of our poor World's need. If we do not fail, He will not fail us.

This is specially a time for looking out for and helping up the good in man. Much that is base and vile and selfish is in evidence all around us. So many of the things that in ordinary times are held precious are just now abandoned—not a few things that we have been taught to condemn and hate are excused or condoned if not actually applauded—that there is a need to watch over whatever of good there is in every one we can influence. Otherwise the general storm of anger and hatred will fan the evil in multitudes, who will be entirely given over to the base; and the last trembling, tottering ruins of the original likeness to the Maker will finally perish. The longer I live the more do I believe that there is some good in every heart to which appeal can be made if only we can find it. I am among those—

Who believe that in all ages, Every human heart is human, That in even savage bosoms There are longings, yearnings, strivings For the good they comprehend not; That the feeble hands and helpless, Grooping blindly in the darkness, Touch God's right hand in that darkness. And are lifted up and strengthened!

I have again to thank some of our Readers for financial help sent to me in response to my recent appeal (Concluded on Page 15.)

Observations

BY Necho

Repose seems to be the order of the day, in the shape of furloughs, rests, etc., and Necho, Mr. Editor, has had quite a long period off duty. But during the week he was drawn forth from his secret hiding-place, and informed that he was to accompany the Commissioner to Newfoundland.

Well, Necho was at the Union Depot bright and early, and he fancied, Mr. Editor, that he saw your smiling face. (Sure, Necho! And you ought to have seen the smile when I received this budget of notes.) He was quite certain about Brigadier Miller, the new Property Secretary, for he seized upon the Commissioner straight off, to show him the plans for the new Training College. I had a peep over the architect's shoulder, and whether I have liberty to do so or not, I here state this fact, that when the College is erected, it will be second to none in appearance, in solidity, and for suitable accommodation. The Property Secretary's assistant, Major Moore, soon put in his appearance.

A large number of Headquarters comrades turned up to wish the party goodbye. I noticed that the Chief Secretary looked a trifle sad. This is rather a lengthy absence from his Commissioner, and the whole weight of responsibility for the running of the Territory already entitles his countenance with a halo of seriousness. But he will get through on top.

Lieut. Colonel Taylor, with his assistant, Brigadier Phillips, were also present. The Colonel's face indicated desire—but that is the normal expression on his countenance; for is he not a "Teacher, and is ever desiring further and deeper knowledge of things secular and spiritual? Yes, but on this occasion it was a new shade of anxiety. For the last ten years he has successfully trained our budding Officers, and now word has come "to pull up stakes." And this new shade suggests wonderment as to where his next appointment will be.

Brigadier Morris I saw smiling. Yes, really smiling, although he suffers from disappointed hopes. It was intended that he should accompany the Commissioner, and being one of those loyal Officers who like to be in the company of the Commissioner, feels a sense of trifling disappointment, mixed with his perfect willingness to stay by the staff and support the hands of the Chief Secretary during the Commissioner's absence.

Lieut. Colonel Chandler, the general Divisional Commander for the Toronto Division, was at the Depot, of course—Necho would have been very surprised had he not seen this buoyant-spirited comrade present.

Major Arnold, the Demonstration Department representative, was there to complete his part of the programme, and also to wish the Commissioner a prayerful voyage.

I noticed a very-valued comrade especially on Friday evenings—Lieut. Colonel Smeaton, Financial Secretary. But Necho knows that the Commissioner has an high estimate of him at other times. (Concluded on Page 15.)

THE WAR CRY

CANADIANS IN ENGLAND

Many Soldiers Seek Salvation at Folkestone—A Khaki Band.

My Dear Editor,—I am pleased to be able to say that we are having real good times in our work among the troops. During the last two week-ends we have had the joy of seeing ten soldier boys converted. On Sunday morning we had the Cheriton Band, accompanied by Adjutant Brockdale, to help us in our service at St. Martin's Rect.

It would do your heart good to see how the boys enjoy the services, and to hear them sing. It may not always sound very angelic, but there is always plenty of volume; they put their hearts into the singing and make the refreshment bar! It is simply the limit. Adjutant Spicer at Sandiing, was telling me of one man who had a dozen fried eggs at one meal. The men appreciate our refreshments very much. The Salvation Army is the only Organization that supplies cooled meals for the troops.

I am continually meeting comrades and friends from all parts of Canada, and it is a most interesting experience. We are looking forward to a visit from the Hon. Premier Borden and Major-General Hughes. Kindest regards to all.

I believe I am safe

Folkestone, Kent.
My Dear Editor,—I am writing this letter this morning from a seat on the beach under the leas, and near the bathing-houses. I have just had a good swim, and there are dozens of people splashing around and enjoying themselves in the water. A large cruiser has just passed, with three submarines following her. In the distance I can see three submarine destroyers patrolling the Channel. While in every direction the Channel is covered with freight steamers and fishing craft.

The passenger steamer has just pulled out from the harbour on its daily run to Boulogne. The German blockade, as far as this district is concerned, is not in existence.

ADIT. AND MRS. GREEN

Readers of "The Cry" will be glad to know that our work among the soldiers is going on well. Sunday afternoon and evening Captain Steele and I, along with a number of our soldier-comrades, took the services at Folkestone, and we had the joy of seeing seven men in khaki at the Mercy Seat. We had a good meeting in the morning at St. Martin's Plain.

Barrell from the Monston Corner

Last Wednesday evening the Folkestone Songster Brigade visited St. Martin's Plain, and gave us a splendid programme. Your humble servant was in the chair, and we had the building packed to the doors. The men appreciated the treat very much indeed.

I continue to meet old friends from all over Canada. On Sunday afternoon I was greatly surprised to meet Bandsman Wm. Hall, from Vernon, B.C. The last time I met him was two years ago this month at his home in Vernon. Little did either one of us think then that our next meeting would be under such circumstances, and at such a great distance from his home.

I should have mentioned that on Sunday we formed a little Band of our comrades in khaki, who assisted us splendidly in the services. With kindest regards. Yours faithfully,

ROBT PENFOLD, Adjt. )

FOUND: A Loving Heart

CALIFORNIAN JUDGE AND OTHERS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO SALVATION ARMY OPERATIONS AT DEDICATION OF ARMY EXHIBIT AT PANAMA EXPOSITION

AN expenditure of fifty million dollars, combined with the skill of America's greatest architects, artists, landscape gardeners, electric and construction engineers, and a setting between San Francisco and the Golden Gate and the broad Pacific beyond, has produced an Exposition which is a feast to the eye of the beholder. Masses of beautiful flowers nestle in the fresh verdure of great expanses of lawn, flanked by shrubbery, palm trees, and other tropical trees, with the tinted walls of exhibition palaces in the background. Graceful pillars and statuary are crowded with domes of green and surmounted by brilliant minarets, with the Tower of Jewels piercing the sky.

The whole world has been invited to assemble here its choicest works, the product of the greatest decade

Exterior of The Salvation Army Exhibit in the Panama-Pacific Exposition

In earth's history in inventions, manufactures, machinery, fabrics, music, paintings, statuary, education, social service, and religion. What, then, could be more fitting than that The Salvation Army should use such a unique opportunity to show forth in word and picture the process by which it is endeavouring to bring Salvation to the bodies, minds, and souls, of every race in every clime?

"Forty-eight thousand men, women, and children profess conversion in one year in the United States of America."

This is a plain, simple statement of results which appears in one of the placards of The Army's exhibit, but behind these figures lie many modern miracles, untold material, mental and spiritual blessings and life everlasting. Drunkards, gamblers, pickpockets, wife deserters, burglars, loafers, and many other desperate sinners are among the forty-eight thousand converts, and their conversions mean reunited families; starving, naked children clothed, fed, and loved; vicious, idle habits deserted for industry and thrift; State institutions robbed of many inmates, and the community saved annually an expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"None too down and out for The Salvation Army to serve."

This is the caption accompanying the photo graph of a poor drunken woman asleep on a doorstep. It attracts attention and touches the heart.

"Last year The Army held 7,941 prison meetings, with an attendance of 375,064 and 6,373 conversions."

This is an eye-opener to those who thought the Gospel story had lost its bite, and with the photos of actual transformations from prison stripes to The Army "blue" strongly recommend The Army's method of prison work.

"To conserve waste, both human and material."

"Work for the workless, the Church of the Churchless."

These and other catchy captions, with striking pictures of industries and operations of The Salvation Army's 139 Industrial Homes in the United States, deeply impress even the casual visitor to the Exposition with the largeness, thoroughness, and practicability of The Army's solution of the problem of the unemployed and unemployable.

The Salvation Army exhibit is prominently located in the Palace of Education and Social Economy. Over five hundred square feet of wall space along Avenue E and Second Street, and the interior walls of the Army's booth are covered with forty-two panels, containing large,

A Splendid View of the Palace of Education and Social Economy in which The Army Exhibit is housed coloured photographs of Salvation Army operations and buildings, and striking placards, charts, and captions setting forth Army methods and statistics. These wall exhibits are so situated that they catch the eye of the visitor immediately upon entering either of two of the principal entrances to the Palace of Education and Social Economy.

How weary the sightseer becomes after a few hours of tramping from building to building at an exposition. Passing along Second Street, having taken in the wall exhibits of The Salvation Army, the weary sightseer glances through a portal, with side draperies open wide. Coloured pictures, changing automatically, say, "Look!" comfortable arm chairs say "Come in!" No second invitation is needed, and for the next twenty-two minutes four stereotomographs or automatic stereoscopes exhibit a series of one hundred and four views, with one hundred and four accompanying slides, giving explanations thereof.

These explanations and views constitute a self-explanatory exhibition of Salvation Army operations, covering The Army Leaders, Corps operations, Children's Homes, Summer Outings, Christmas Dinners, Slum Visitation, Women's Rescue Work, Young Women's Boarding-Homes, Men's Industrial Work, Men's Hotels, Prison Work, Missing Friends, Anti-Suicide, and Missionary Operations.

But we have not yet exhausted all the attractions of The Army's exhibit. In a moving-picture auditorium, next door to the stereotomograph booth, accommodating about two hundred persons, a film of over two thousand feet, brings very realistically before the people the actual operations of giving Christmas dinners, distributing relief, repairing cast-off shoes, and men in the Industrial Homes.

These pictures also show the training that is given to the young people who are orphans or wards of the juvenile courts, and have been committed to The Army's Children's Homes. Slum mothers and babies can be seen having the time of their lives on seashore and in fields and forest during summer camps, and a vision of the marching of Salvation Army troops from every land and nation, of every tongue and colour, through the streets of London at the International Congress in London is also included.

Two long tables filled with "War Cries" and other periodicals from all parts of the world, and printed in many languages, form a great attraction, especially to foreign visitors. Japanese, Swedes, French, Swiss, Italians, Germans, Koreans, South Americans, Danish, and dark-skinned natives from India's coral strand, can all read the latest Salvation news from their own lands, in their own language. To the plain

PROMOTED TO GLORY

BRO. GEORGE BLACKBURN

Lost on the Lusitania

Our comrade left, Victoria, B.C., and took passage on the Lusitania, bound for the British Isles, on May 1, 1915. He was last seen coming from his stateroom, and he was never seen again.

We held a memorial service, at which many were present, for the

Brother Blackburn

a good Soldier, and carried by Colours, being made Colour-Sergeant by the late Staff-Captain Hayes, who also lost his life in a similar disaster. He was found on the sidewalk whilst going home, one of the meetings, the late Staff-Captain Hayes, who also lost his life in a similar disaster. He was found on the sidewalk whilst going home, one of the meetings, the late Staff-Captain Hayes, who also lost his life in a similar disaster.

Sister Bell, Petrolia, Ontario

The sudden promotion of Mrs. G. Bell, wife of Brother Blackburn, to the rank of Colour-Sergeant, was a terrible shock. Although not a prominent fighter, owing to her many duties at home, her courage and faith in the cause of the Salvation Army were well known. Her death was a great loss to the cause.

greetings will be missed by all.

Sister Mrs. Bell

The funeral service was conducted by Staff-Captain White on Monday, July 13th, at the Citadel.

On Tuesday, July 14th, the messenger visited the graves of the two brothers who were killed in the Lusitania disaster.

Brother Robert's, Hart Bay, was killed in the Lusitania disaster. He was a brave and faithful Soldier, and his death was a great loss to the cause.

On Tuesday, July 14th, the messenger visited the graves of the two brothers who were killed in the Lusitania disaster.

Brother Robert's, Hart Bay, was killed in the Lusitania disaster. He was a brave and faithful Soldier, and his death was a great loss to the cause.

On Tuesday, July 14th, the messenger visited the graves of the two brothers who were killed in the Lusitania disaster.

Brother Robert's, Hart Bay, was killed in the Lusitania disaster. He was a brave and faithful Soldier, and his death was a great loss to the cause.

NEWS NOTES and COMMENTS

A FINE CAR FERRY

The finest specimen of her kind ever built is how Canada's new car ferry steamer "Prince Edward Island" is described. It will ply between Point, P.E.I., and the mainland.

Experience of the firm in building car ferries for the Russian Government for use in the Baltic Sea, and the fact that it has decided to build this craft as far as the work of this type is the nip and tuck of the approaching ice floes, and the hull has been made very strong.

To making her regular trips in the winter will be often to go through ice of a thickness of three or four feet. The vessel is to be fitted with several compartments by eight water-tight bulkheads, and filled with oil, and the hull is to be made of steel.

Comparing the ratio of killed to wounded in the present war with previous campaigns, the "Lancet" (London) says the figures are of better omen than would be expected.

The ratio is as one killed to 4.25 wounded and missing, or 23.5 per cent. In the Crimea the ratio killed to wounded was one to 2.5.

IN TRENCHES

Graphic descriptions of what life is like in the trenches are given by Mr. Matania in the "Lancet" (London). The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

The communication trench is the one which affords the most safety to the Soldier, and it is here that the most serious fighting takes place.

FAMOUS RESCUE RECALLED

The passing away of Charles Fish, a well-known life-boatman of Ramsgate, England, will call to mind the wreck of the "Indian Chief."

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

Decayed, who was seventy-five years of age, was in charge of the Ramsgate lifeboat, when, after a terrible battle with a storm, it made its famous rescue of eleven men from the "Indian Chief," which was wrecked on Longsand. The lifeboat was at sea twenty-six hours, and the coxswain (Fish) was awarded the National Lifeboat Institution gold medal.

men have been pioneers in the cause of female education and suffrage, and the action of the Danish Parliament marks one more step forward in the cause of democracy.

TO HASTEN WAR'S END

AMONG other things the war has been the cause of a revolution in parliamentary procedure, for measures have been passed in a few days which no Government would have dared to introduce twelve months ago, or which, if brought in, would have been opposed with endless arguments, bickerings, and ill-feelings for months or even years.

The liberty of the subject has always been a highly-prized privilege of the British people, but the Munitions of War Act even infringes on liberty, the reason being that it is necessary at this crisis in the nation's history, and that the resources of the country must be mobilized in order to end the war.

All this is entirely against the principles of true unionism, and it

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he acquired, through flies, he believed, a complaint which had grown gradually worse, until now he is laid up in bed unable to do anything. He emphasized the menace of flies, and added: "In France, owing to the presence of unburied bodies, the question is a serious one. Fly-borne disease, which could easily be stamped out, is a discredit to the intelligence of the people."

prevented attending through illness contracted from flies.

In a letter, Sir Frederick said that just before he left Madras he

